

GP Bios

	Dr Andrew Fang MBChB, MRNZCGP Andrew graduated from Otago University of Medicine in 2009. He moved to Hamilton after working a couple of years in Palmerston North Hospital. He worked a few years in Waikato Hospital mainly in the medical fields, before becoming a GP. He enjoyed this transition very much, and thinks it is the best decision he has made in his medical career. Originally from Malaysia, Andrew is now married and has settled down in Hamilton.
	Dr Asit Parekh MBBS, FRNZCGP Asit completed his medical training in India and worked in the Middle East before moving to New Zealand in 1998. He joined Hamilton East Medical Centre in 2005 after a few years as a Registrar in ENT at Waikato Hospital. Asit has special interests in ear, nose and throat (ENT) and minor surgery. A good listener, Asit enjoys the scope of general practice and the opportunity it provides to know the patients and help them remain well in all aspects of life.
	Dr Zig Khouri MBChB, Dip.Sports Medicine, Dip.Obst. Zig has been in general practice for over 20 years. He qualified in Otago and has worked in Hamilton since. Married to Helen he has three children. His interests in general practice include sports medicine, dive medicine, adolescent and geriatric medicine, minor surgery and all other facets of general medical practice. His work has included being the doctor to the Junior All Blacks and the Chiefs. Dr Khouri is the current doctor for the Maori All Blacks and the Waikato Rugby Team.
	Dr Angela Glew MA MB BChir MRCGP(UK) MRNZCGP Originally from the UK, Angela graduated from Cambridge University in 1999. After several years' experience in Emergency and General Medicine, she went on to qualify as a GP in 2007. Angela migrated to NZ in 2008, initially working throughout the North Island as a Rural GP Locum, before joining the HEMC family in 2014. She currently works part time, 3 days a week, and also works as one of our Urgent Clinic Doctors. Away from work, Angela has a busy family life with her husband and 2 small children. She enjoys running and yoga, tramping and travel, as well as gardening and cooking.